Company Description

Polysoup Interactive is an indie game studio driven by creativity and innovation. Founded in 2024 by Samuel Lundsten and Fredrik Lindahl—both educators at Luleå University of Technology. They are a small but passionate team based in Skellefteå, Sweden. Their mission is to craft unique experiences that challenge traditional game concepts and push the boundaries of interactive entertainment.

History

Polysoup Interactive began as a fun side project by Samuel and Fredrik, with a shared passion for making unique and enjoyable games. Their first game, Put the Sausage in the Bun, quickly gained attention for its quirky mechanics and lighthearted humor. The game has attracted streamers with a turnout of hundreds of thousands of views. They are currently working on their next title.
